Ex-tion. Stokes Defends His Law for Primary Voting for Senators Thinks Result Would Be Binding on Legislators Holds Law Is Constitutional

TRENTON, N. J. Aug 18 Former Gov Edward C. Stokes, who is one of the active candidates to succeed John Kean in the United States Senate, made a spirited defence to-day of the law passed during his administration permitting candidates to submit their claims recognition to the voters of the Senator Kean and David Baird of Cainden have both refused to take advantage of the provisions of the act which they have criticised as unconstitutional and impracticable because it cannot bind the members of the Legisature in the face of the constitutional provision giving them the right to select United States Senators. Ex-Gov. Frankfin Murphy has announced his intention of following the example of Mr. Stokes filing petitions which will place his name upon the primary election ballots of his party. In defending the measure which he drafted and had passed while he was Governor Mr Stokes said:

I am very much gratified at the turn of estisfactory. In a special message to the Legislature I recommended the enactment of a law providing for primaries for candidates for I nited States Senator and drafted the present act, which was passed during my administration I was the first to an sunce my determination to submit my candidacy for the United States Senate PROBERS QUESTION WITTPENN to the Republican voters at the primaries The indorsement of an experienced and tried party leader like Gov Murphy, therefore, is a compliment which I make no pretence of undervaining

Moreover, every loyal Republican musresource in Gov Murphy's action. Party interest was dead. It is now awakened. The interest that will be created at the primaries by a healthy Senatorial contest will arouse an enthusiasm which will aid party victory at the polls. Nothing could have happened more conducive to our party success this fall

Candidates who object to making the people the arbiters in the Senatorial contest do so on two grounds. First, that the law s not binding upon the members of the Legislature. This view is entirely errone-The law is absolutely binding upon all fair and sincere members of the Legis-It is far more specific in its obligalature Presidential electors in their choice for President and Vice-President would dream of these electors violating the expressed wish of their constituents as expressed at the ballot box. No more would we expect the members of the Legislature riolate the expressed wish of the people as voiced at the primaries on the question the I nited States Senatorship of the Legislarure of this State. They are representatives of the people, and to intimate that they would not be bound by the law is to say that they will misrepresent the

The second suggestion of the opponents of this act, that they are following constitutional methods as outlined by the fathers, is a plea in avoidance. The law providing for a Senatorial choice at the change the constitutional method of elecing a United States Senator. It is not unconstitutional to permit the people to say whom they want to serve them in the United States Senate It is simply granting to the people the right of petition which is guaranteed by the Constitution and which John Quincy Adams said belonged even I nder this law the andidate for the I nited States Senate goes to the doors of the Legislature with the cradentials of the people behind him By date and the candidate whom the pe say they do want is unconstitutional? Surely the Republican party of this

State will not attempt to go into the cam paign this fall upon any platform that by expressed terms or even by inference denies to the people the right to choose their representatives in the United States Senate Such a policy would be an un-pardonable slight to the people whose votes we need in order to win uestion of whether, as one of the and shall be attended to after the Legislature is elected, which was the case in Illinois, whether the people shall have the right at the ballot box to pass judgment on various candidates for the high honor in question and say who shall represent New the United States Senate. The tractor State is on trial and the right of the people
